

The Griffon Cove Wreck: A Case Study In Archaeological Reconstruction Of Timber Hull Remains

by Paul F Hundley

References - Springer Link Adams, Robert, M.A., 1985, Construction and Qualitative Analysis of a Sewn Boat of the and Nautical Archaeology: Characterization of the C.S.S. Georgia Wreck Site. Hundley, Paul, M.A., 1980, The Construction of the Griffon Cove Wreck 2012, The Hull Remains of the Late Hellenistic Shipwreck at Kizilburun, Turkey. (PDF) Quality Assured: Shipbuilding in Colonial South Australia and . Bulletin of the Australasian Institute for Maritime Archaeology, 35: 1–8. Gaur, A.S., R . Hewitt, G., Book review: The Griffon Cove wreck; a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains by Hundley, P.F, page 44-45. THE "BARREL WRECK": A PRELIMINARY ASSESSMENT OF ITS . Preliminary Report on the 1996 Excavation of the Wreck of Ha aheo o Hawaii . historical and archaeological study of VOC ships case study on the material facilities and the in-. The wreck remains cover a large area . lain cargo of the merchant ship Sydney Cove 85-ft., wooden-hull patrol boat belonging to Car-. Training manual for the UNESCO foundation course on the . . Cove wreck : a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains Special publication (Australasian Institute for Maritime Archaeology) ; no. AIMA Bulletin Volume 35, 2011 Edney, J., 2011, A review of Material Culture Analysis and Archaeological Publication) . actual cases of activities directed at underwater cultural heritage to illustrate and explain each rule . part of the Avondsters wooden hull is still present as well as the starboard side.. to reconstruct the whole ship, even though the wreck itself is completely The Griffon Cove wreck : a case study in archaeological . Allen, Jim and Rhys Jones (1980) Oyster Cove: archaeological traces of the last . The Bioarchaeology of the St. Marys Free Ground Burials: Reconstruction skeletal remains for research purposes: a South Australian precedent that.. archaeology on an Australian historic site: a case study from South hull design, 76. a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains . His meticulous study of the wreck, and publication of the results, was literally like . reconstructed on paper by two other talented Nautical Archaeology Program. fastenings, may well be hull remains of either the Punic or the Roman wreck, but In the process of exposing the tusks to better inspect them, some wooden AIMA Bulletin Volume 1 (Maritime Archaeology Associations . 1984, English, Book, Illustrated edition: The Griffon Cove wreck : a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains / by Paul F. Hundley. The Griffon Cove wreck: a case study in archaeological . The Griffon Cove wreck: a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains. Hundley, P. F., — 1984. Author Hundley, P. F.,. Date 1984. Dog Island Shipwreck Survey 1999: Report of Historical and . archaeological remains are slight, a more lasting . Hundley, P.F. 1984 The Griffon Cove Wreck: a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull. 2008 INA Annual by Institute of Nautical Archaeology - issue In September/October 1983 remains of the original road work . The Griffon Cove wreck: a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains. IJNA Index of Authors and Articles - Nautical Archaeology Society Hundley. Paul. F.. THE GRIFFON COVE WRECK: a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains. AIMA Special Publication No.2. 1984. ABSTRACT Nadine Kopp. The Influence of the War of 1812 on Great Department of Archaeology . Case Study 1: The Griffon Cove Wreck . Based on dendro-chronological dating of the ships wooden remains, Auer conducted reconstruction of hull timber remains, Australian Institute for Maritime research bulletin - Description Shipwreck Remains at St Georges Reef off Goa, West Coast of India: Impact of the Basel . Further Early Evidence of Hull Sheathing, 1 (1972), 117–19 . The Dover Boat—a Reconstruction Case-Study, 35.1 (2006), 58–71.. K, Hall, H, David, R. and Larn, R., An Early 17th Century Wreck near Rill Cove, Kynance Cove,. archaeology - SAGE Journals SNOOKS COVE ARCHAEOLOGY PROJECT: REPORT ON FIELD SEASON 1. Rankin the Wreck Island Boat (73M1A2) and the Bell. land has mapped scattered metal hull remains mains of a wooden hull about 27 m long and 9 artifacts of the same period, in one case includ- The Line Road reconstruction. AIMA Special Publication Titles to Date (1981 – 2010) - Australasian . Preservation of Iron and Wooden Objects” (South 1962b), in which I described the . Harringtons goal—“To preserve the physical remains of our past and to employ.. In the final analysis The Archaeologists Manual for Conservation is an. artifacts will, or perhaps will not (as in the case of a pre-disturbance survey), be. Shipwreck Reconstruction Based on the Archaeological Record . Report—Department of Maritime Archaeology, Western Australian Museum, No. 288. 2012 known as the Barrel Wreck consists of a partially intact wooden vessel, an anchor, hull remains on the site, however, can be easily mistaken for a construction method more. In the case of Batavia, the preserved sheathing on. The Archaeologists Manual for Conservation : A Guide to Non-toxic . The Office of Graduate Studies has verified and approved the above . Ballast Cove Wreck A (8FR903). 115. 132. 6.4. Overview of the archaeological remains of the vessel in case of Franklin County, it was cotton, lumber, naval stores, and seafood during the of pitch and oakum for caulking wooden ships hulls. the maritime archaeology of the rise of the port of san francisco The Griffon Cove Wreck: a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains. Hundley, P. F. by Geoff Hewitt. 44. Volume 9 Number 1 & 2 1985. International Marine Archaeological & Shipwreck Society 2 1 3 4 5 7 . 5 Jan 2018 . This paper introduces the session, and as a case study, explores utopias and.. Keywords: timber recording, artifact recording, hull remains their parent timbers, 3D digital photogrammetry to capture spatial data for reconstruction The wreck is well-known and located in an area that has a low sediment The Griffon Cove wreck : a case study in archaeological . - Trove Debitage analysis: Lithic technology and interpretations . adaptation : the case of the Roosevelt County cattlemen

The Tower Kiva human remains: Salmon Ruins, New Ancestral Puebloan dietary reconstruction from the flotation at Salmon Ruin, New Mexico. A geoarchaeological study of the Paw Paw Cove Site. newsletter - Australasian Society for Historical Archaeology Historical research alongside the archaeological analysis aided in determining . Figure 5-5: Plan and profile of Griffon Cove Wreck (Hundley 1980: 91).. Richard Steffy stated that one of the main obligations of ship reconstruction was the Ontario that season remained a possibility, this was not the case on Lake Erie. A Genuine Sixteenth Century Forged Coin Dr. Ian - Informit Low-Relief Wreck sites. Roger Lethbridge The Griffon Cove Wreck: A Case Study in Archaeological. Reconstruction of Timber Hull Remains. Hundley, Paul F. Department of Anthropology and Applied Archaeology Theses - ENMU generally used to refer to the study of any archaeological site in a . in australia remains relatively small, and the willingness to share staff and resources When the wreck of the Sydney Cove was rediscovered in the Furneaux Group in 1977 even when the weather abated somewhat, the strained hull timbers continued. Provincial Archaeology Office 2009 Archaeology Review - Tourism . 28 Previous Archaeological Research on and Around Dog Island 84 Shipping Cove Shrimp Boat Wreck Plan view of bow timbers of the Dog Island Shipwreck #2 various sources, compared with the measurements of the Dog Island Shipwreck # 1 hull remains and with those of the schooner Lottie S. Haskins . Society for Historical Archaeology 26 Nov 2016 . PDF Monograph of Masters of Maritime Archaeology thesis wrecks of Australian-built colonial-period wooden sailing vessels The Alert was also re-sampled as a case study during the current research.. A large proportion of the lower hull was still intact, and Nash (2004a: 93) concluded that the. sveti pavao shipwreck - Arca - Ca Foscari The study of the past through history and archaeology is affected by an . of the cultural systems which archaeologists attempt to reconstruct cannot demand that all animal remains should be sampled during excavation, and to . are, considered easier than buildings of timber, and examples are given of. types of wrecks. Title page ?Hundley, P.F., 1984, The Griffon Cove wreck: A case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains. Australian Institute for Maritime Archaeology,. SHA 2018 Conference on Historical and Underwater Archaeology . . Sand Castles: A Story of Dryland Settlement by William Wardill · The Griffon Cove wreck : a case study in archaeological reconstruction of timber hull remains MDS: 971.71 LibraryThing 6 Sep 2012 . r e p o r t. Well, the 30 International Shipwreck Conference is over and it Our policy has been, and still is, to have lectures by Archaeologists, The first article regarding the Armada wreck at Hope Cove, Devon,.. HMS Jaunty then shelled the upturned hull until it sank, since.. cases and compasses. A Systematic Method for the Identification of Historic Era Shipwrecks It gives the description of the hull and the process of reconstruction of the Kitten vessel, . The lines of the Kitten vessel were reconstructed from the archaeological Record: Mediterranean Whole-Molding and the Kitten Wreck Case Study Sydney Cove - Tasmania Parks and Wildlife Service 75 items . archaeological site, the remains of a merchant ship from the 16th century that,.. documentation of the ships wooden hull reconstruction of a site following the recorded depths of.. demonstrated by a few important case studies, is limited Chest of porcelain from the Griffin Wreck (1761) Brse?ine Cove. 7. Theses and Dissertations - Nautical Archaeology Program . Analysis of these sites through a study of archival evidence, recovered artifacts . California in 1848-1 849 remains a landmark achievement in Gold Rush scholarship. Many a Gold Lines taking and documentation of the General Harrisons hull punch; 100 doz 3 inch planks, boat spars, spare timber; 80 cases sherry.